

Repurposes Selections

By Kenneth FitzGerald

Thirty-one artists have been selected from nearly (perhaps over) 80 applicants for the Repurposes exhibition to be held at the Ellin and Baron Gordon Galleries at Old Dominion University, March 20-April 18, 2010. The artists come from around the world, with work representing a wide variety of media, including artist books, print, text, design, photography, sculpture, installation, video, and web.

Michael Alstad, Kristen Alvanson, Mary Babcock, Andrew Bascle, Robert Billings, Alice Bradshaw, Andrew Breitenberg, Jenna Collins, Caroline Cox, Gale Flax, Scott Groeniger, Hilary Jack, Daniel Jasper, JK Keller, John Kramer, Roselyn Leibowitz, Lemeh42, Ann Liu, Paul Matosic, Chris McCampbell, Steven McCarthy, Rebecca Mushtare, Antonia Perez, Vincent Romaniello, Marie Reig (www.elmur.net), Marcella Stasa, Wesley Stuckey, Beth Taylor, Bradly Treadaway, Isabel Uria, Supisa Wattanasansanee

Tags: art, curating, Garland Kirkpatrick, Gordon Galleries, Helvetica Jones, Old Dominion University, recycling, Repurposes, sustainability

Kenneth FitzGerald, artist, educator, and writer. I'm currently an Associate Professor of Art and Graduate Program Director in the Art department at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Virginia, where he teaches in the undergraduate Graphic Design and graduate Visual Studies programs.

(Image: Wesley Stuckey, "Where Did The Forest Go," No.2 yellow pencils, wooden clothes pins, toothpicks, thread, sticks and matches, 72" h x 66" w.)